When some of the best-known industry brands come together, it's not only big news for lighting professionals, It's GREAT news! Recently, Craftmade Ceiling Fans, Ellington Fans, Jeremiah Lighting, Exteriors Outdoor Lighting and Teiber Products have joined forces to create a residential lighting industry powerhouse: Craftmade. Faster, easier buying and a steady stream of high-quality products are among the many reasons why lighting professionals like doing business with the Craftmade family. Our best-selling ceiling fans, indoor and outdoor lighting, plus specialty items such as door chimes, vents and light bulbs are some of the fastest-selling, highest-margin electrical items around. The lines are represented by an experienced team of sales professionals throughout North America and are warehoused in Coppell, TX. Buy one brand, or buy them all: One customer service rep will handle your entire order. Consolidated invoices make it easier to reach full freight allowed orders. Since the beginning, the merger has allowed us to improve internal efficiencies in critical areas, including product design, manufacturing and logistics. We've stepped up our already stringent quality-control measures and enhanced the company's customer service capabilities with additional staff. We have a fine reputation of standing behind what we sell, which makes Craftmade dealers feel more comfortable about selling our products. The Craftmade family of brands has much to offer all lighting professionals, large and small. And we've only just begun. Consider this your invitation to join the Craftmade family. Style and simplicity it's what Craftmade delivers and what lighting professionals need to succeed.
