The Cora Accent Table is a bit too hip to be square but hard edges do define its demeanor. The metal interlocking legs finished in silver leaf raise its white marble top as if it is toasting itself. Given its small size and adjustable glides, it is one of our pieces that can easily float within a space to any spot where it is needed most, which means it is just as malleable during happy hour as it is for the first cup of joe with the morning paper. We also offer the Cora in drinks tables in green and white.
